

International Obsidian Conference 2021

3rd Circular – IOC 2021
April 30 - May 2, 2021

Venue: Virtual conference

Hosted by the Archaeological Research Facility (ARF), the International Association for Obsidian Studies (IAOS), and Far Western Anthropological Research Group, Inc.

Dear Friends and Colleagues,

We invite you to participate in the updated International Obsidian Conference (IOC 2021) to be held virtually from April 30 – May 2, 2021.

Our aim is to invite specialists on all aspects of obsidian studies extending from natural sciences to anthropology. Following prior meetings, we intend for the conference to remain global in scope and encourage contributions from any geographical region, yet highlight obsidian studies in the Americas. Because the geologies of North America are so diverse, we also aim to include semi-glassy fine-grained volcanics (FGV) used by Amerindians in the Great Basin and other regions in the Americas.

Suggestions for conference sessions and themes:

- Formation and geology of obsidian and FGV
- Sources, their characterization, and archaeological distributions
- Analytical and methodological aspects
- Archaeological obsidian and FGV by chronological periods
- Lithic technology and use-wear studies
- Theoretical and cultural concerns (e.g., materiality, itineraries, tool stone resource management or control strategies)

Conference Updates

With the consistent threat of COVID-19 in combination with changes to university safety guidelines, we are compelled to change the date of the conference and its overall format. Our main reason for doing so is the result of new rules at UC Berkeley that have cancelled all in-person gatherings like ours into early 2021; our venue will therefore not be available. The dates of the conference are now April 30 – May 2 to mitigate overlap with the Annual Meeting of the Society for American Archaeology (SAA) and allow participants to spread out their conference activities and obligations. The conference will follow a virtual format to be announced soon. Other relevant changes and updates include:

- 1) The conference is now free for participants and attendees. We do ask that you become a member of the International Association of Obsidian Studies (IAOS) as a courtesy for IAOS helping to organize and subsidize the conference. You can become a member by clicking here. By joining IAOS, you will become part of an international network of obsidian researchers that offers a variety of resources to support your research. Your membership dues will also assist in sponsoring future conferences.
- 2) There is a location for submitting registration and abstract information on the recently updated IOC homepage through the UC Berkeley Archaeological Research Facility (see below). Submissions should be made by the revised deadline of March 1st, 2021.
- 3) The conference will offer an option to present live or to submit a pre-recorded presentation that will be streamed at a set time. We will also set aside time to showcase poster presentations and make them available to conference participants.
- 4) Dr. Steven Shackley has accepted our invitation to give a Keynote speech during the conference.
- 5) The Archaeological Research Facility (ARF) at UC Berkeley plans to publish the conference proceedings pending review and approval in their publication series that began in 1960. This publication series has seen many seminal works on obsidian studies, and we anticipate our conference proceedings to be an important addition to this legacy.
- 6) Our excursion to Napa Valley is canceled.
